

Wales Coast Path

Discover the shape of a nation

Wales's newest attraction will be open in Spring 2012

Fancy an 870 mile stroll? The Wales Coast Path is your answer, stretching continuously from near Chester in the north to Chepstow in the south.

The Path is for everyone and gives you a chance to explore any part of coastal Wales, to meet the locals and enjoy the fresh air and scenery. Consider this your invitation to step out and enjoy our new national endeavour, even if you don't walk the whole thing!

Work to create the Wales Coast Path is co-ordinated by the Countryside Council for Wales and delivered on the ground by local authorities. It is funded by the Welsh Government, the European Regional Development Fund and the coastal local authorities.

For further information: www.ccw.gov.uk

Photographs © Crown copyright (2011) Visit Wales

